PISCATAWAY — The township Board of Education has authorized a special election seeking approval for an additional $14.6 million to complete a district-wide expansion and renovation program that was originally approved by voters in March 2002.

The election will be held Jan. 25. The district will also hold two information meetings on the referendum — 10 a.m. today at Arbor School and 7 p.m. Wednesday at Schor Middle School.

If approved, the tax impact on the average home assessed at $109,000 would be $55.23 per year, or $4.60 per month, at current lending rates. The additional funds will connect the Anthony and Patton Buildings at Piscataway High School; provide for the construction of five new science laboratories, art studios, music rooms, a 1,200-seat theater and upgrades to existing science laboratories and air conditioning.

Piscataway High School was built to accommodate 1,700 students, 2,200 are now enrolled. Next year, 2,300 students will be enrolled.

If voters approve the referendum, the additional funds

Calendar spreads anti-drug message

BEDMINSTER — In a time when the advertising and the entertainment industry is being scorned for producing violent and graphic material, 12 Somerset County youths were honored by their parents, local police and dignitaries for posters that promote a life without drug and alcohol abuse.

Not only did they receive congratulations, eight received savings bonds of $100, three received $200 savings bonds and one Bernardsville pupil received a $500 savings bond for having his design voted best of all. All of the winning entries were made into a calendar.

As part of the Somerset County Prosecutor's Office 2005 anti-drug calendar, fifth and sixth grade pupils from around the county were challenged to design their best anti drug and violence advertisements.

As the best design of the calendar, now in its seventh year of existence, Zach Horton, a fifth grader at the Saint

More charges filed in tax flap

BOUND BROOK — Somerset County Prosecutor Wayne Forrest announced last week that a series of criminal complaints were filed in Superior Court in Somerville charging Rafael Rosario with eight additional crimes, including theft by deception and tax violation, in connection with an ongoing investigation into Café Imperial.

The additional charges are second degree failure to surrender taxes, second degree failure to make required disposition, second degree theft by deception, third degree filing false tax reports, third degree misapplication of entrusted property, third degree tampering with public records, fourth degree deceptive business practices and fourth degree false swearing, officials reported.

Rosario, 43, a borough resident, is principal owner of Café Imperial, Forrest said.

According to the prosecutor, Rosario and Kenneth Henderson, currently suspended borough police chief, were arrested Oct. 19 of last year by Somerset County Prosecutor's Office detectives and charged with second degree official misconduct and conspiracy to commit official misconduct.

Forrest said the New Jersey Division of Taxation, Office of Criminal Investigation and Division of Alcohol Beverage Control and Department of Labor all joined the investigation and are actively assisting the prosecutor's office.

The charges filed against Rosario allege that he filed false sales and use tax quarterly returns on behalf of the restaurant. The charges allege he consistently underreported the amount of business sales tax received by Café Imperial for 1999-2003.

In addition, Rosario allegedly illegally withheld more than $75,000 from the Division of Taxation and State of New Jersey during the same period, Forrest said. Forrest said the $75,000 does not include fees, penalties and interest potentially due.

Henderson was arrested last fall on charges he tipped off Rosario about an impending raid by state liquor law investigators. Henderson was eating dinner at the Café Imperial on Oct. 17 when he learned that state Alcoholic

Board rejects parking plan

Ed. note: This article, which appeared on Dec. 11, 2004, is being reprinted because it originally contained inaccurate information about what Scotchbrook Associates, owners of an existing strip mall at the corner of Park and West Golf avenues, were seeking when they appeared before both the Planning Board and Zoning Board of Adjustment. The applicants were only seeking approval for a parking plan at the complex.

By LIBBY BARSKY
Correspondent

SOUTH PLAINFIELD — An issue over the number of parking spaces needed for a strip mall at the corner of Park and West Golf avenues may be heading to court.

According to Zoning and Code Enforcement Officer John Pabst, Scotchbrook Associates, owners of the site, have filed a suit in state Superior Court in New Brunswick against the Zoning Board of Adjustment, which had upheld Pabst's recommendation that the center have 70 parking spaces.

Scotchbrook had requested a variance so it would only need 26 spaces at the site, which houses a Chinese take-out restaurant, an auto parts store, a kitchen cabinet store and periodical distributor.

No renovation or other construction work on the strip mall is planned, according to representatives of Scotchbrook.

The Planning Board requested the zoning board consider the variance on the parking spaces. After hearing the request, the zoning board rejected it on Sept. 9.

During a planning board hearing on the application held Dec. 1, Mayor Daniel Gallagher, who also sits on the planning board, said work on the variance request should be stopped until any litigation is settled. The board did not take any action at that meeting.

Bound Brook man charged with rape

BOUND BROOK — A man faces charges of kidnapping and raping his former girlfriend, an 18-year-old woman.

Jose Raul Escano-Rodriguez, 22, of Linden Avenue was arrested Tuesday morning near a section of woods in Bridgewater where the rape was said to have taken place. The woods are off Vosseller Avenue north of the Bound Brook border.

Escano-Rodriguez has been charged with one count of aggravated sexual assault, first degree; one count of kidnapping, second degree; one count of terroristic threats, third degree; and one count of weapons possession, third degree. He is being held in the Somerset County Jail on $75,000 cash bail.

According to a release from the Somerset County prosecutor's office, the suspect picked up the woman around 5:17 a.m. Tuesday at her South Bound Brook home.

Elizabeth School in Bernardsville, said he was surprised he won.

"I was thinking out of the whole county, what are the chances I'll get first prize?" Zach said. "It's something I feel strongly about and I'm going to stick to the idea and never change my mind."

For his poster, Zach said he took what he learned from his Drug Abuse Resistance Education Officer Doug Seals of Bernardsville and applied it to his poster.

"I learned about finding options, reviewing the situation, making a decision and assessing what each letter (in D.A.R.E.) stands for," Horton said.

Nicole Rokicki of Bridgewater, whose father, Chris, is a member of the Franklin Police Department, said her design was "Be smart and don't start."

Nicole's poster is a take off on the "this is your brain on drugs" ad showing someone who uses drugs and another who does not.

"I thought maybe I'd win, and I like to use drawing books to practice my drawing," Nicole said. "You can't be happy and healthy with drugs."

Somerset County Prosecutor Wayne Forrest said the program has been very successful. Some 7,000 calendars will be distributed this year.

There are approximately 77 elementary schools which take part in the D.A.R.E. program, which includes classroom visits by specially-trained D.A.R.E. officers and culminates in a graduation ceremony and a day at the Somerset County Ballpark where officers, students, parents and teachers all get together to enjoy time together.

Forrest said the program does more than just teach children about the dangers of using drugs and alcohol.

"This way the students and the officers don't meet under traumatic circumstances," he said. "Nowadays they can meet in a positive way."

will also allow the district to construct 10 classrooms and a gymnasium at Grandview as well as install air conditioning, and upgrade the parking, main entrance, rest rooms and electrical systems. At Knollwood and Randolphville schools, the funds will include the installation of air conditioning throughout the buildings, and other minor upgrades.

Rapidly escalating construction costs are responsible for the shortfall, said Robert L. Copeland, superintendent of schools.

"Those who have undertaken home remodeling are well aware of building costs, and school construction is more expensive than residential," he said. "In March 2002, when voters first approved the expansion of our schools, the state was recommending that we calculate school construction at $138 per square foot; currently, it is just under $220 per square foot, not including the site. Each day that these building projects are delayed, we incur risk that construction costs will be even higher."

Increases in construction costs per square foot, the price of raw materials such as concrete and steel, land acquisition, as well as inflation, have affected school building projects throughout the state, said Kevin McElroy, spokesman with the New Jersey Schools Construction Corp., the agency created to spearhead the state's focus and financial commitment to improving school facilities. Additionally, global events such as a building boom in China have increased the cost of construction materials. The price of petroleum, used in rubber materials, is another factor.

Work at six of the 11 buildings that were part of Piscataway's original March 2002 referendum approved by voters are all but finished. These include additions and renovations to Conackamack, Quibbletown, and Schor middle schools; additions to Arbor and King intermediate schools, and renovations to Fellowship Farms School. These projects have all been completed on time and within their original budgets.

Bids on the Piscataway High School portion of the referendum are more than $33.6 million; the budget is about $23.4 million with an additional $1.4 million for contingency. In order to complete the high school project as it is currently designed, the district would need an additional $10.6 million.

Cost estimates on the Grandview, Randolphville, and Knollwood expansion and upgrades are $3.9 million over budget.

and Beverage Control officers were minutes away from the establishment and planned to arrest several employees, police said.

Undercover detectives already stationed inside the restaurant watched as Henderson informed owner Rafael Rosario and helped him alert specific employees to flee before the ABC officers arrived, police said. Videotape surveillance also captured Henderson's activities, police said.

Both Rosario and Henderson remain free on bail.

The department is currently being led by acting Chief Louis Diana, who helped unveil a new paint scheme for the patrol cars this month as part of a public image campaign.

She wanted to go to a friend's house in Bound Brook but was driven instead to the woods where he allegedly attacked her. He also put a knife to her throat.

She fought him off, grabbed the knife and threw it out of the car, then drove back to South Bound Brook to notify police when he threatened to kill her. The knife was confiscated from Escano-Rodriguez and the car impounded after his arrest.

The woman also suffered bruises and bites on her face, leg and arm, according to the release. She was treated for her injuries at Somerset Medical Center in Somerville.

An investigation is continuing into the rape and related attack. Anyone with information is asked to call South Bound Brook police at (732) 356-0087, Bound Brook police at (732) 356-0800, Bridgewater police at (908) 722-4111, the county prosecutor's office at (908) 575-3300 or Crime Stoppers at (888) 577-TIPS.

Raritan Valley YMCA head leaves post

EAST BRUNSWICK — Ron Fournier, who has headed the Raritan Valley YMCA for the past 12 years, announced his retirement last week, effective immediately.

Fournier made the announcement to YMCA staff, explaining that the decision was a personal one.

"This very difficult decision has been made for personal reasons, so that I can be with my family more," he said. "A lot of things have been accomplished over the past 12 years, including a $3.9 million grant that was recently secured through the Casino Reinvestment Development Agency, or CRDA."

"This leaves the Y in a very good position to move forward with a new growth phase that will take place during the next two years," Hank Mertens, acting president of the Raritan Valley YMCA's Board of Directors said. "I want to thank Ron Fournier for his efforts and especially for his vision for the new YMCA Family Program Center."

"We wish Ron and his family the best of luck."

The Raritan Valley YMCA, currently located in a 4,000-square-foot building on Dunham's Corner Road, will be moving to a new expanded location on Tices Lane later this year. It serves more than 2,000 participants from throughout Middlesex County.

When completed, the new facility on Tices Lane will feature cardiovascular, conditioning & weight training areas, an aerobic/dance studio, child care center, multi-purpose rooms, locker/showers, a six-lane pool, a therapy instruction pool and a new gymnasium. Renovation of the existing building is expected to be completed by the end of 2005. The entire expansion project is scheduled to be completed in 2006.

The YMCA provides a variety of programs and services to meet community needs, including child care, summer camp, swim programs, sports instruction and fitness/exercise programs.

Man held in sex assault of 12-year-old borough girl

SOUTH BOUND BROOK — A 23-year-old Bound Brook man was arrested last week after allegedly sexually assaulting a 12-year-old borough girl in her home, Somerset County Prosecutor Wayne Forrest and Robert Verry, chief of the borough police department, announced.

The victim and her family notified police of the assaults on Nov. 1 of last year, officials said.

According to police, while staying in the victim's home last summer, Merari Barragan assaulted the girl in his bedroom on at least four occasions. The girl told her mother about the assaults in the fall after Barragan sent e-mails to her. He also reentered her home without permission after sending the e-mails and wrote harassing messages on a bathroom mirror, police said.

Barragan was arrested and charged with first degree aggravated sexual assault, second degree sexual assault, third degree endangering the welfare of a child, fourth degree trespassing and harassment. He is being held in Somerset County Jail on $50,000 bail pending a court hearing, police said.

Need rises for children's clothing

As the thermometer drops, business at the Kids Closet, which provides new, donated clothing to children living in poverty, is heating up. Unfortunately, supplies are running low.

"We are staring into empty bins for several sizes," said Richard Uniacke, director of the Kids Closet at the Community FoodBank of New Jersey, which operates the Kids Closet. "It seems that nearly every child in need falls between the sizes of 4 and 12," said Uniacke, adding that the Kids Closet's greatest need is for warm pants and jeans for both boys and girls in sizes 4 to 12.

The Kids Closet, which opened in 2001, provides new clothing up to twice a year for children through their caseworkers or social service agencies. Judging by requests for clothing so far this season, Uniacke said, he expects to need at least 15,000 sets of clothing and 3,000 coats. Kids Closet stock comes from clothing manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers, as well as community organizations and individuals who donate clothing or the funds to purchase children's clothes in bulk.

The mission of the Kids Closet calls for distributing new, rather than used, clothing. "We hear it time and again from caseworkers and teachers: To a child who generally wears secondhand clothing, a set of clothes that he can call his own does wonders for a kid's self-esteem," Uniacke said.

In the past two years, the number of families in New Jersey living below the federal poverty level, which is $18,800 for a family of four, has increased nearly 14 percent, for a total of nearly 800,000 individuals. "The kids need new pants because they're growing, but the rent and the heating bill, those are growing, too," said Uniacke. "We can't do anything about the utility bill, so we do what we can to provide warm clothes."

Those who wish to donate clothing or funds to the Kids Closet can contact Uniacke at (908) 355-3663, Ext. 247, or by email at runiacke@njfoodbank.org. Donations may also be brought to the Kids Closet, which is housed in the Community FoodBank of New Jersey, 31 Evans Terminal Road, Hillside, weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. until noon. Those wishing to donate funds online and to find out more about the Kids Closet and the FoodBank may visit www.njfoodbank.org.

A national disgrace

The United States is the richest country in the world. It is also has the most powerful military in the world.

Yet donations are being sought to help protect American soldiers stationed in Iraq.

It's a national disgrace.

Acting Governor Richard J. Codey announced Thursday the start of a statewide drive to collect used bulletproof vests that U.S. troops in Iraq will use to line their vehicles to protect themselves against bombs.

"We are establishing regional drop off points at our National Guard Armories to collect used bulletproof vests to give our troops every possible protection," Codey said.

Codey urged all local, state and federal law enforcement agencies to donate used vests to strengthen armor on military vehicles in Iraq. Some groups have already begun campaigns to collect vests.

Maj. Gen. Glenn K. Rieth, the Adjutant

General of New Jersey, said the dropoff sites will be located at the Atlantic City Armory (1008 Absecon Boulevard), the Lawrenceville Armory (151 Eggert Crossing Road) and the West Orange Armory (1315 Pleasant Valley Way). Collections began Tuesday.

Rieth stressed the vests are only needed for use on military vehicles. "Every soldier being deployed to Iraq has his or her own personal body armor," he said.

"These brave men and women are risking their lives in the name of freedom," Codey added. "This is one way we can demonstrate our support and appreciation for the sacrifices they are making on behalf of our nation."

The vision of the most powerful military in the world relying upon donations from police departments on the homefront to bolster protection for the troops is shameful.

It truly is a national disgrace. And someone needs to be held accountable.

Don't let the dream die

On Monday this country will celebrate the birthday of Martin Luther King, perhaps the most influential American of the second half of the 20th century. Yet, aside from the stock market and government offices being closed and a scattering of stories in the media, there will be little to separate Monday from the other drab days of January.

That's unforgivable.

The legacy left by Dr. King should never be underestimated or forgotten. It is inconceivable to a younger generation that just 40 years ago segregation was the rule in many parts of this country. African-Americans were forced to sit at the rear of the bus and to drink from separate water fountains. They were not allowed to stay at many hotels and they were refused service at many restaurants. This country's treatment of African-Americans was truly shameful.

The courage demonstrated by Dr. King and his followers brought about the most sweeping change in this country's history. Centuries of injustice ended with historic Supreme Court rulings often enforced by federal troops and the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Most of these changes were prompted by Dr. King's insistence on non-violent protest; the peaceful demonstrations that he led delivered the message to all Americans that all men are created equal and, more importantly, should be treated equally. And Dr. King never gave up the struggle, despite the ugly hatred of ignorant racists and the despicable and inexcusable harassment by a rogue FBI.

Dr. King's achievements should not go underappreciated. By achieving equal rights for African-Americans, he made all of our lives better. Though his life was tragically ended by an assassin's bullet, the struggle for racial justice continued. And it continues to this day. There is still too much racism and intolerance in this country and the stench of discrimination still lingers.

To properly remember Dr. King, we should dedicate ourselves once again to the principles he espoused — the pursuit of justice for all through non-violent means. That dedication should be the root of how we celebrate this national holiday.

Letters to the Editor

Environmentalists are misusing science

To The Editor:

So New Jersey has decided to help solve the global warming problem by joining politicians and lawyers in other northeastern states in forcing a redefinition of carbon dioxide as a pollutant. The state's brief filed in federal district court consists of the entire litany of deadly disasters used by global warming alarmists: droughts, rising sea levels, catastrophic forest fires, floods, hurricanes, etc.

But carbon dioxide only constitutes a few percent of the total mix of heat-trapping greenhouse gases in the atmosphere associated with global warming. Eventually the governor and the cabal of state attorneys general will discover that the dominant greenhouse gas, contributing more than 90 percent to global warming, is not carbon dioxide — it is dihydrogen monoxide.

Will they the shop around for an activist federal judge eager to redefine dihydrogen monoxide as a pollutant? Will the northeastern states then claim to be at the forefront of the War on Global Warming, and they must beat California to the establishment of a taxpayer-funded Center of Excellence for research into finding a renewable resource substitute for dihydrogen monoxide - a.k.a. water?

Sound far-fetched? Perhaps. But who would have ever believed that carbon dioxide - the essential ingredient for plant life on Earth - would be falsely identified as a pollutant. But environmentalists use science to promote the environment, don't they? Wrong. The unscientific prophecies of global warming are but one example. There exists a whole catalog of junk science, and false, misleading, and fraudulent use of science by politicians, lawyers, and media and environmental activist to promote environmental lunacy.

Community lends aid to victims of tsunami

WOODBIDGE — As part of relief efforts to areas in South Asia that were devastated by the recent earthquake and tsunami, Sen. Joseph F. Vitale and Assemblymen Upendra Chivukula, as well as other areas legislators and children's advocates, announced they will partner with Office Depot to sponsor a backpack drive to provide supplies to orphanages in Sri Lanka.

"The absolute destruction caused by (the recent) natural disasters in South Asia is incomprehensible," said Senator Vitale. D-Woodbridge. "Thousands of children are currently being cared for in makeshift orphanages throughout the region, as the death toll rises higher than anyone could have imagined."

"I can't think of a better cause than to provide some sort of distraction for these kids from the chaos and death surrounding them."

Assemblyman Chivukula, D-Franklin Township, said: "The children of the tsunami-stricken countries have been through a horrific ordeal, with many losing their parents and other family members. Sending a backpack full of toys and creative supplies will send a message that strangers half a world away care about the children of Sri Lanka."

"This backpack drive is an example of the many fine efforts of New Jerseyans to relieve the suffering of the tsunami victims."

Piscataway's Grandview Elementary School is also kicking off a drive to raise money to aid victims of the tsunami. An assembly beginning the drive will be held Wednesday. Chivukula is among those expected to attend.

The legislators said that Office Depot of Woodbridge has agreed to donate 400 backpacks for the relief efforts, with 200 backpacks going to the Woodbridge school district, where students are organizing a supply donation drive, and 200 backpacks to collect supplies from the community. The Woodbridge Fire Company #1 has offered to store all donations for the backpacks while volunteers are organized to assemble them. After the packs are filled, they will be shipped to approximately 50 to 60 Buddhist temples in rural Sri Lanka which have been taking in displaced children.

"I feel the symbol of a backpack is something all children can identify with," said Helen Evans, president of Stand for Children, an advocacy group that has worked with Sen. Vitale for the past seven years on backpack drives for foster children in New Jersey. "We hope to provide some sense of stability to the lives of those orphaned by the tsunami as they are transitioned into more permanent homes."

For the relief efforts, the legislators are asking anyone wishing to donate for the following items: mouthwash, soap, towels, sunscreen, water bottles, small toys, socks, T-shirts, shampoo, brushes, combs, deodorant and coloring books.

"The tragedy in South Asia has affected so many families and children. It is heart wrenching to think of all the children who had to witness the tsunami first hand, lost their families, and now are in orphanages," said Assemblyman John Wisniewski, D-Sayreville, who is working with the donation effort. "I can only hope that these backpacks can provide a little joy in their lives during this horrible time."

The donation drive comes in the wake of massive devastation in South Asia, in which an earthquake and the ensuing tsunami have been responsible for a death toll that has already been estimated at more than 150,000 people.

"To positively occupy the minds of children who face unimaginable horrors from the tsunami is an act of charity and mercy," said Assemblyman Joseph Vas, D-Perth Amboy. "Putting order in the lives of these students will be a start on the road to recovery."

Mary Wong, director of community relations for Office Depot, said: "We are proud to partner with Senator Vitale, area legislators and the Woodbridge School District. Our national backpack program is meant to put a backpack in the hands of children who need them most, we applaud Senator Vitale, the assemblymen and the students in Woodbridge for reaching out and providing the backpacks to the children in Sri Lanka and making a difference."

The 400 backpacks were presented at Office Depot's ribbon cutting event for their new store in Woodbridge.

Donations can be dropped off at Sen. Vitale's district office, 87 Main St. Those interested in donating can also call Sen. Vitale's office at (732) 855-7441.

A welcome communion of souls

Jersey Boy

Mike Deak

Until Saturday I had not been inside the Neshanic Methodist Church for more than three decades.

The church had been a large part of my childhood — doing Sunday School homework on Saturday nights while watching "Saturday Night at the Movies" on NBC and then getting dressed up in a starched sports coat and tie for Sunday School. I liked the hymns and the Bible competitions; if I hadn't been fearful of a stutter attack, I would have been a champion Bible verse finder.

On special days after Sunday School, I would stay for the regular 11 a.m. service and imagine the Holy Ghost float and slink like Casper around the ankles around of everyone in the sanctuary. I enjoyed the choir, though it was always small, their voices rising through the sanctuary to the outskirts of Heaven. I watched the flicker of the flames on the altar and on windy winter and fall days, I listened to the unkempt tree branches scratch against the stained glass windows. It was as if the fingertips of God were tapping on the windows. On Palm Sunday I liked getting palms and hitting everyone in my class.

But I was a rebel angel and the times were ripe for rebellion. I left after my freshman year in high school because the church — like any church — was standing still in the rush of change in the early 1970s. I was sick of the conservative Old Testament (the one still favored by Republicans) and began to like the liberal Old Testament (the one still favored by Democrats) and I began, at least viscerally, to appreciate the liberation theology of Jesus to the intolerance of the Old Testament that still mars thumping American Protestantism.

Then there was an argument over the My Lai massacre in a Sunday School class when I suddenly found myself an outcast, there was a growing schism over the type of material taught in Sunday School, my best friends all dropped out and I succumbed to the adolescent practice of needing more sleep on weekends.

Sometimes I thought about returning but by that time my disgruntlement had been replaced by cynicism and Sunday mornings recovering from Saturday nights. Tee times were more important than church bells. Faith, if I had any at all, was practiced on a one-on-one basis with no passing of the plate. For me it was more important to practice every day the principles of the New Testament than to believe I could gain a perch in Heaven by going to church on Sunday and shaking the ritualistic Etch-A-Sketch to erase the hypocrisy of the other 6 days and 22 hours of the week.

It's been only relatively recently that I fully realized the purpose of going to church was more than just a place where you could meet God for a weekly session. A friend, who recently started attending church again, summed it up when someone asked her why: "Because it makes me feel better." She finds comfort and joy in the fellowship and the sense of community. And that is what I found Saturday when I walked into the Neshanic Methodist Church on Sunday.

It was a memorial service for someone who knew me all my life and who everyone in my hometown knew. The warmth of the sanctuary, full of the unbreakable kinship of a small town, sucked the chill out of a miserable wet winter day. We shared memories of the departed and the choir was just as angelic as long ago days. There was joy in the shared memory of the dead and there was comfort in the fellowship we shared.

"This is the way it should be," somebody said to me. He was right. Without the dogma, that church service was a celebration of life and community, a communion of common souls. Which is, if you think about, the whole point.

Show trips are offered

PISCATAWAY — Tickets for the following shows are available from the Recreation Department of Piscataway Township as follows:

— "The Producers" — Feb. 6, $110 per ticket — Orchestra seating — 3 p.m. matinee at the St. James Theater, 246 West 44th St., New York City. Based on the Academy Award Winning 1968 film of the same name, The Producers is the story of down-on-his-luck theatrical producer Max Bialystock and Leo Bloom, a mousy accountant. Together, they hatch the ultimate scam: Raise more money than you need for a sure-fire Broadway fiasco — and pocket the difference. Their Broadway brainchild is non other than "Springtime for Hitler." The Producers has become a Broadway phenomenon, earning more Tony Awards than any other show in the history of the Great White Way. The bus will leave from the Municipal Complex at 12 p.m.

— "Mamma Mia" — March 6 — $110 per ticket — Orchestra Seating — 2 p.m. matinee at the Winter Garden Theater, 1634 Broadway, New York City. A musical with a disco beat, Mamma Mia features the music of Swedish singing group ABBA. The setting is a Greek Island where 20-year-old Sophie is due to be married. Her mom, Donna (who happens to be a former singing star) is there. But Sophie's father is not present because she is not sure who he is. So, Sophie researches mom's diary and chooses three former lovers as likely candidates and invites them to the wedding, thinking she will figure it out when she sees them. Donna is a bit non-pleased to be visited by the gatherings of old flames. Mamma Mia! The bus will leave from the Municipal Complex at 10:30 a.m.

— "Fiddler on the Roof" — April 3 — $110 per ticket — Orchestra Seating — 3 p.m. matinee at the Minskoff Theater, 1575 Broadway at 44th and 45th streets, New York City. A musical about the traditions that bind a family whose daughters are yearning for something new even as great changes are happening in the world outside their village of Anatevka. The international sensation was inspired by the stories of Sholom Aleichem and was first presented in 1964 introducing the memorable songs "If I Were A Rich Man," "Matchmaker, Matchmaker," "Sunrise, Sunset" and "To Life." The bus will leave the Municipal Building at noon.

— "The Lion King" — May 15 — $115 per ticket — Orchestra Seating — 1 p.m. matinee at the New Amsterdam Theater, 214 West 42nd St., New York City. A musical about a young lion cub named Simba who struggles to accept the responsibilities of adulthood and his destined role as king. To bring the classic 1994 film to life, Disney turned to the story's roots, its rich mythology, powerful human drama and primal African rhythms to create a fantastic new musical unlike anything Broadway has ever seen. Winner of six 1998 Tony Awards, including Best New Musical, The Lion King is an adventure into another world. The bus will leave the Municipal Building at 10 a.m.

— At The State Theatre, 15 Livingston Ave., New Brunswick, tickets are available, with no bus transportation, for Bill Cosby, Feb. 26, $50 orchestra seating.

— Sesame Street — March 26 — $24 Orchestra Seating — 2 p.m. matinee. High energy musical extravaganza that explores the world of Imagination, Ernie captures the High Seas, Elmo dances to the rhythm of the rainforest, and Bert meets an Octopus who's got the blues. It's a story of adventure and fun that teaches children they can be anyone, do anything and go anywhere with Imagination!

For all shows, please call the recreation Department at (732) 562-2382 to reserve your seat. A $50 deposit will hold your reservation for the New York City shows and a $10 deposit will hold reservations for the State Theatre. All outstanding money needs to be paid one month before the scheduled show.

Make all checks payable to Piscataway Township and send to: Piscataway Recreation, Attention: Shirley Myers, 455 Hoes Lane, Piscataway, NJ 08854.

Bundles for babies sought by United Way

Residents can help a child in the area get a better start in life through Somerset County United Way's Baby Bundles program.

Employee groups, businesses, service groups, youth groups and faith-based organizations are invited to participate by sponsoring a drive to collect needed items.

"The birth of a child should be joyous event, but for many low-income families, it can also be a financial hardship," said Melissa Boronkas, associate manager at United Way. "This program helps get families off to a good start."

Needed items include new clothes for infants, formula, diapers, blankets and healthcare items such as baby shampoo, wipes, lotions and more. Groups sponsoring collection drives will be asked to deliver donated items to a central location in Somerset County on March 14 or 15. The items will be sorted by volunteers and then distributed through a variety of agencies to low-income parents and expectant parents in Somerset County.

Thanks to a caring community, a total of 5,340 items, worth an estimated $12,000, were collected and donated through Baby Bundles last year.

"Needs continue to grow, and our goal is to continue to expand the program to meet those needs," said Boronkas. "We're asking groups that would like to participate to register with us by February 11. Having a list of participants helps us to plan for the amount of space needed to sort the items as we prepare them for distribution in mid March.

We'll also be able to supply groups with specific information about drop-off times and location, as well as provide marketing tools."

To register a group with United Way, call (908) 253-

"Participating in Baby Bundles is an opportunity for the community to come together to welcome our newest members," said Boronkas. "We hope to see many people join us in this effort."

An independent nonprofit organization, Somerset County United Way supports health and human services providers by raising funds and effectively investing them, developing volunteer resources and building community collaboratives and partnerships.

Alternate teaching offered by college

EDISON — Middlesex County College will hold an information session for people interested in becoming teachers through the alternate route program scheduled for 6:30-8:30 p.m. Jan. 25 in the Technical Services Center, room 100, on the Edison campus.

Pre-register must be made by Tuesday by calling (732) 548-6000, Ext. 3144, or e-mail to Darlene\_Yoseloff@middlesexcc.edu.

While anyone with qualifications may apply, the program is aimed at professionals who want to change careers and teach.

The alternate route program, New Pathways to Teaching in New Jersey, allows prospective teachers to begin their training in the summer at community colleges all over the state.

The graduate-level program will run in two stages. Stage I runs in the summer as a 45-hour pre-service program with guided classroom observations. Stage II will run in the fall of 2005 and spring of 2006 and will include content specific courses and a capstone institute.

Students can choose to take the program as either a certification requirement to become a teacher in New Jersey, or choose to apply the program as 15 credits toward a master's in teaching degree from New Jersey City University.

The alternate route program is for people who did not major in education while in college but would like to teach. They work toward certification while they are teaching. Many, although not all, may be career-changers.

Program candidates must hold a bachelor's degree with either a major in an arts and sciences field for elementary education or hold a major in the appropriate field for subject area license. Candidates must have a cumulative GPA of 2.75 or higher for the last degree earned and hold a passing score on the appropriate Praxis II exam.

Unbeaten South Plainfield rips Middlesex

One night after pulling out a victory in its most difficult test of the season, the South Plainfield High wrestling squad had one of its easier matches as it routed Middlesex 65-8 in a GMC-White Division encounter.

In improving to 6-0 for the season the Tigers logged eight pins and a pair of technical falls while taking 12 of the 14 bouts. After Joe Bizzomo opened the match with a tech fall, winning 16-0 in four minutes at 171 pounds, Middlesex won just one bout the rest of the way.

Billy Ashnault (112) in 28 seconds, Eddie McCray (135) in 19 seconds, Nick Curcio (145) in 1:14, Sam Martin (160) in 1:34 and heavy-weight Rob Maistickle in 18 seconds all had first-period falls for the Tigers, while Pete D'Andrea (140) in 4:39, Kevin Crilley (189) in 2:06 and Preston Johnson (215) in 4:31 also pinned.

Patrick Hunter (103) and Bryan Hunt (130) built 16-0 leads in 5:13 and 4:27, respectively, for tech falls, while Jimmy Conroy (119) registered a 13-2 major decision and Mike Jakubik (152) won 10-4. Nick Desiato (125) had a 10-9 decision for the other victory for the Blue Jays (2-3).

South Plainfield 34, Hunterdon Central 28 — Eddie McCray gave the Tigers the lead for good at 30-25 with a fall and Mike Jakubik secured the victory with a major decision as South Plainfield outlasted Hunterdon Central in a non-conference battle of unbeaten Monday night.

McCray needed only 1:14 to deck his opponent at 135 pounds, while Jakubik nailed down the Tigers' fifth triumph with a 17-4 decision at 145. The loss dropped Central to 5-1.

Kevin Crilley and Rob Maistickle also had falls for South Plainfield, which won only six of the 14 bouts but won the match by avoiding a lot of bonus points. Crilley pinned in 3:35 at 189 and Maistickle's fall came in 1:27 at 215. Patrick Hunter (103) and Jimmy Conroy (119) had forfeits.

Minutemen Classic

The first of four finalists for the Eagles, Bandiero earned his gold at 125 pounds with a fall in 3:46. Edison then came from behind to overtake Matawan (132½) points and win the title as Kidney decked his opponent at 189 in 1:37 and VanEmburch picked up a forfeit in the 215 final.

Metuchen's Jack Barrett grabbed top honors at 145 pounds when he needed just 1:48 to pin his man in the title round.

Piscataway bounces back to coast past Edison

Coming off just their second setback of the season, the Chiefs rebounded in resounding fashion Tuesday night.

Brandon Wilkinson dropped in six of seven from behind the three-point line and finished with a game-high 20 points, nine of which came in the opening session. Kyle Freney followed with 10 points as seven players had at least six points for the Chiefs.

Nick Reider tossed in 11 points and Dan Hanssen had 10 for the Eagles, who fell to 2-6 for the season.

South Plainfield 58, Monroe 31 — Grabbing a 11-2 lead through eight minutes and outscoring the visitors in each period the Tigers coasted to a GMC-White Division triumph Tuesday night to bounce back from their second loss and boost their ledger to 8-2.

Dunellen 56, St. Peter's 48 — Outscored 28-22 in the middle periods to find themselves trailing 38-37 entering the final period the Destroyers used a 19-10 closing kick to Visiting Sayreville, which had won just once entering the game, in GMC-Red Division play the Hawks held just a 30-26 lead at halftime, but then went on a 20-10 run in the third quarter to open some daylight and cruise to a 68-50 victory to boost their record to 8-1.

A Kid's Forum, a theatrical group operating out of the Forum Theatre Company of Metuchen, is performing "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" through Monday.

Goldilocks returns to Forum

METUCHEN — Forum Theatre Company has announced the return of A Kid's Forum production, "Goldilocks and the Three Bears," which runs through Monday.

This is an hysterical adaptation by Paul Whelihan of the beloved tale of a young girl who happens upon the home of three bears. Finding no one home, she helps herself to some porridge, breaks a chair and abruptly falls asleep in one of their beds. Given the trademark Kid's Forum twist, this version has Goldilocks being put on trial for breaking and entering, petty theft and vandalism. The audience becomes the jury, deciding the fate of the heroine.

With a book brimming with humor (featuring a somewhat dysfunctional Bear family and a talking parrot who accompanies Goldilocks on her journey), the music is a fanciful collection of popular 1970s music, with songs by Loggins and Messina, The Pointer Sisters, The Artist Formerly known as Cat Stevens and more.

All musicals are recommended for children ages 2 and up and all seats are reserved.

Metuchen restaurant Dan's on Main is offering a brunch special in conjunction with the 1 p.m. Sunday performance. Ticket prices are $12.50 for everyone, brunch not included, with discounts for groups of 20 or more.

Camp and school groups, day-care centers, Boy Scout and Girl Scout Troops as well as other organizations are all encouraged to book early for best availability.

Performances are 11 a.m. today, 1 p.m. tomorrow and 11 a.m. Monday. The theatre is located at 314 Main St.

Tickets can be ordered by calling the box office at (732) 548-0582. For additional information, visit www.forumtheatrecompany.com.

The Forum Theatre Company, a qualified organization of the New Jersey Cultural Trust, is a not-for-profit regional theatre, is a member of NJ Theatre Alliance (the State's coalition of professional theatres) and Actors' Equity Association (the union for stage performers) and is funded in part by The Geraldine R.
