No price is too high for bar and bat mitzvahs

By AMY S. BOBROWSKI
Staff Writer

Arielle Pila entered the room hidden behind a large glittering clam shell wearing a pink gown fitted especially for her. The start of a Las Vegas show or a Broadway production? No. It was the 13-year-old's big reveal at her bat mitzvah.

"It was really special because nobody knew where I was," she said. "They were all surprised."

Held at the Bridgewater Marriott in January, Pila party centered on an Under the Sea theme because she shares the first name of character from "The Little Mermaid." Pila's party is evidence of just how elaborate bar and bat mitzvah celebrations have become in the past decade.

A bar or bat mitzvah ceremony is held to mark the child's journey into adulthood. During the ceremony, the child reads from the Torah and recites a blessing. While the ceremony is serious and spiritual, the parties that follow sometimes pull out all the stops. In her 15 years as an event planner, Samantha Goldberg of Gold Events Planning in Bridgewater, has coordinated more than 100 bar and bat mitzvahs, many of which expressed the child's personality.

One room featured a Chinatown theme, including pagoda, seen at right. Democracy House earns county award

EDISON — Democracy House, the Middlesex County College service-learning program, received the County Service Award from the Middlesex County Regional Chamber of Commerce. The award, presented March 13 during the Business Awards Breakfast, recognized their dedicated service to nonprofit organizations in the area.

"Through Democracy House, more than 40 students per year spend thousands of hours enriching the lives of Middlesex County residents," said Chris Phelan, president of the Chamber. "Democracy House brings the talents of this group of students to bear on community problems. Each student spends at least 300 hours per year working on community service projects. The amount of work they do is staggering."

For example, a group of students work in Elijah's Promise, the soup kitchen in New Brunswick, in which they stock shelves, prepare food, and deliver it to the clients. A few years ago, working with faculty from the College's Department of History and Social Behavior, they surveyed the clients and discovered the need for a bag lunch program for those who could not travel to the kitchen. It was developed and they now help with that program. Each fall, Democracy House students spend a day cleaning Elijah's Promise and a number of them serve food on Thanksgiving.

Students also work in Lincoln Elementary School's 21st Century After School Program in New Brunswick, leading games for the kids, helping with homework, and being a big brother or sister to the children.

Middlesex considers $2 million budget cut

Middlesex County Freeholder Director David B. Crabel proposed cutting more than $2 million from a proposed 2007 county budget to offset an anticipated revenue item that was rejected by the state.

He suggested the reduction March 15 after the New Jersey Division of Local Government Services rejected an amendment to the Sayreville Economic and Redevelopment Agency's budget. That amendment would have allowed state approval of an item of anticipated revenue in the county's 2007 proposed budget.

SERA was expected to make a payment of $5,307,000 to the county, which loaned the agency $39 million to purchase a 400-acre site for redevelopment. State officials did not believe the payment would be obtained by the county in 2007 based on SERA's amended budget.

"In order to minimize the impact of this action by the Division of Local Government Services on the property taxpayers of this county, I am recommending that we make reductions in the county budget, as introduced, in the cumulative amount of $2,022,000," Crabel said.

He said the amount could be obtained through cuts to various expenses and by not filling current staff vacancies. The county also is anticipating federal revenue from Medicare Part D funds and using $88,000 more in surplus. The remaining amount of $3,285,000 will be obtained through a slight increase in the county's tax levy.

Even with the increase in the tax levy, Crabel said, taxpayers would realize a larger reduction in the equalized property tax rate than originally calculated when the budget plan was first introduced Jan. 18.

As introduced, the plan carried a decrease in the equalized county tax rate of eight-tenths of 1 cent per $100 of assessed valuation. Crabel said that after the adjustments are made, the budget would carry a reduction in the equalized property tax rate of 1 cent per $100 of assessed valuation.

Crabel said the adjustments would be reviewed with the respective department heads and other freeholders.

A special meeting to consider the budget was scheduled for March 29.

Computers help to connect generations

By AMY S. BOBROWSKI
Staff Writer

WARREN — Len Pieski has never owned a computer. But now, he's anxious to buy one.

The Warren resident recently completed a computer skills course offered by the Warren Township School District.

"I noticed my grandchildren playing around on the computer a lot," Pieski said. "I like to keep abreast of what's going on. I didn't use a computer at all before."

The four-session basic skills course, in which 26 seniors received lessons during programs held at two of the district's schools, was held recently.

Like Pieski, some of the seniors have hardly ever used a computer. To introduce them to the technology, instructor Steve Verger, a computer science teacher at Warren Middle School, had the seniors play Solitaire.

"It teaches them mouse skill and how to click or double click on things," he said.

But some of the seniors in the course were already way beyond that point.

"I know how to do a lot of these things," Pat Stamm said. "I'm looking to learn more. I'm researching my genealogy and the class helped me with some problems I ran into like how to delete something from my Favorites (list)."

Bob LaVine learned how to set up an e-mail account.

"I'm an officer of the USS New Jersey Veterans Committee," he said. "We do a lot by e-mail. This will help with my record keeping."

Additionally, his new skills help him keep current.

"A lot of things have changed in the computer industry," he said. "I want to keep up with the times."

Pieski said his new knowledge will enable him to save time and money.

"It'll be helpful (to know how to use the computer) because I can buy stocks and bonds on the computer," he said. "It's less expensive than going through a broker...I've seen the AARP website and I'm a retired school teacher so now I can get my information about the New Jersey Education Association through the computer."

Additionally, some of the websites he visited have given him ideas on how to spend his leisure time.

"I like to go walking," he said. "I read all about Duke Farms."

Mary Ellen Roberts, the district's technology coordinator, said she is currently considering offering a second part to this course to teach the seniors more advanced applications.

"Most of them have a computer at home and some skills," she said. "They want to keep up with their grandchildren. They want to attach photos and send them e-mails."

Shanna Whelan, 12, is a student helper for the class held at Warren Middle School.

"I like working with elderly people," she said. "I help them with showing them the different links and the difference between the websites."

During the class, the instructor offers a few minutes of lessons on the day's topic, and then the seniors try out their skills on the computers in the lab, all of which feature flat screen monitors.

"It's nice because they get to use the equipment they pay for as taxpayers," Roberts said.

Military Honors

W/ART PIX-0324LOUIS

Army Reserve Sgt. 1st Class Edeze A. Louis has returned to the U.S. after being deployed to an overseas forward-operating location in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Operation Iraqi Freedom is the official name given to military operations involving members of the U.S. armed forces and coalition forces participating in efforts to free and secure Iraq. Mission objectives focus on force protection, peacekeeping, stabilization, security and counter-insurgency operations as the Iraqi transitional governing bodies assume full sovereign powers to govern the peoples of Iraq.

Members from all branches of the U.S. military and multinational forces are also assisting in rebuilding Iraq's economic and governmental infrastructure, and training and preparing Iraqi military and security forces to assume full authority and responsibility in defending and preserving Iraq's sovereignty and independence as a democracy.

The sergeant first class is a finance specialist assigned to the 78th Division, Edison.

He is the son of Edeze and Erlyn Louis Piscataway. Louis graduated in 1988 from Piscataway High School, and received a bachelor's degree in 1984 from Kean University, Union. He earned a master's degree in 1998 from Montclair State University.

Eric K. Johnson graduated from the Air National Guard Academy of Military Science at McGhee Tyson Air National Guard Base, Knoxville, Tenn., and was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air National Guard.

The six-week, in-resident course curriculum is designed to prepare the officer candidate for initial assignment as a commissioned officer and to serve as a foundation to build a career in the Air Force reserve components. The major subject areas of instruction included military studies, physical training, academic studies, professional development, communicative skills, leadership and management, international security and defense studies.

After graduation, the lieutenant either attends further career development training or returns to his or her resident state unit of assignment.

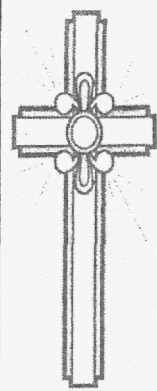

Johnson is an intelligence officer assigned to the 177th Fighter Wing, Eggharbor. He is the son of Kenneth Johnson of Metuchen and Nancy E. Johnson of East Windsor. In 1998, he graduated from Allentown High School and received a bachelor's degree in 2002 from the Richard Stockton College of New Jersey, Pomona.

Kavanaugh named 'Outstanding Citizen'

Sen. Walter J. Kavanaugh

BRIDGEWATER — The Somerset County Business Partnership has announced that Sen. Walter J. Kavanaugh has been selected as recipient of the 57th Annual Outstanding Citizen of the Year and the Adult Day Center of Somerset County will receive the 13th Annual Quality of Life Award.

The awards are given for exemplary volunteer efforts demonstrating creativity, vision, leadership, and citizenship by providing service to programs and activities that positively impact the welfare of the Somerset County community. The former award is bestowed upon an individual and the latter on an organization. The awards will be presented at a dinner reception on May 2, beginning at 6 p.m. at the Martinsville Inn.

Among the criteria for the award are: service impacting the welfare of the community; activities outside normal employment responsibilities; activities should have been performed in the past year but may be cumulative from prior years; nominees do not have to be Somerset County Business Partnership members or investors; previous recipients are eligible for activities other than those for which the prior award was given.

There is an opportunity to congratulate the recipients with an advertisement in the Awards Dinner Journal. Tickets are $75 per person and may be obtained by calling the business partnership at (908) 218-4300 or ordering online at events@somersetbusinesspartnership.com.

Kavanaugh has been an outspoken advocate for Somerset County for more than three decades as a member of the New Jersey State Legislature. As a member of the state Legislature, he has been a significant contributor to the quality of life of all county residents and employees, legislating for their needs and accessing funding for necessary projects.

Kavanaugh is a former Air Force helicopter pilot, who has been an office holder in Somerset County since winning a seat on the Somerville Board of Education in 1963. He moved on to the State Assembly in 1975, winning his first general election with ease. In 1997, he moved to the State Senate, a position from which he will retire at the end of 2007, bringing to conclusion 44 years of public service.

Always responsive to the concerns of the residents of Somerset County, he has always been a strong voice in Trenton for fiscal integrity and restraint, according to a release from the partnership. His expertise on the state budget has benefited both business and residents, fighting to reduce taxes during the most difficult of times in New Jersey, it was stated in the release.

Throughout his career in public service, Kavanaugh has been accessible to his constituents, often found working behind the counter at Kavanaugh Brothers on East Main Street in Somerville.

A Trenton icon and a Somerset County icon, Kavanaugh is Somerset County's premier Outstanding Citizen.

Walter and his wife Carole have two children.

Recent Outstanding Citizen recipients are: Steve Kalafer, Rich Reitman, Bernie Navatto, John Graf, Jr., Robert Corcoran, Christine Rose, Dan Puntillo, Donald Bowers, Evelyn Field, Frank & Audrey Dittman, Adele & Leonard Blumberg, David Prugh, Arlyn Rus, Richard Shive and Dave D'Alonzo.

The Adult Day Center of Somerset County was founded 31 years ago, committed to providing quality, affordable medical and social daycare services to disabled and elderly residents of Somerset County at an affordable cost. The center allows senior individuals to continue living with their families, maintaining their dignity and independence, while allowing their caregivers the opportunity to carry on their normal lives.
