

In honor of Black History Month: “Something Beautiful” is coming your way... Poetry reading and book signing with Ms. Zey

Saturday, February 17
2 p.m.

The poetry in this book holds truth. Laughter and tears stream into the issues of life like a tributary. There is hope. And so she wrote...

Spoken word artist, poet, educator, and writer are just a few of the attributes of Zanzel Kathy Roach, known as Ms. Zey. All wrapped up in an inspiring, uplifting and charismatic delivery, you will be sliding off your seat as you move to her beat. The experience you have when you hear and/or read the creativity of Ms. Zey will be dynamic. Her words of hope have captivated audiences from the NAACP, City Halls, Black History Month Events, Women History Month Events, Universities, High Schools, Elementary Schools, spoken word cafes, churches and non-profit organizations. Zanzel invites you to connect with her so you too can personally partake in Something Beautiful.
